

7.1.2.1. Dayalbagh - An Eco-Village

Dayalbagh- the Garden of the Merciful has a land expanse of about 1500 acres located in the North of the city of Agra and bounded on the North and West by the river Yamuna.

In a city, which is witnessing a burst of housing colonies and shopping areas and where the roads are full of carbon spewing vehicles, the colony of Dayalbagh is clearly playing the role of the Lungs of this heritage city. It has embraced the use and generation of clean energy in a big way- Solar Energy, naturally, becomes the prime resource in this context³

Dayalbagh is a self-contained colony renowned for its serene environment and secular establishments, in which its inhabitants lead an active, disciplined and co-operative community life dedicated to service, conforming to the high spiritual ideals of their faith. On the outskirts of the historic city of Agra, the campus is situated in garden settings, away from the din and noise of the city. Nestled between lush green fields, it provides an excellent ambience and academic setting which is in harmony with nature. This, along with a simple, disciplined and principled life, undoubtedly contributes to the strength of the social, moral and spiritual fiber of the institute's educational system. (3.Source: Dayalbagh progress report)
